The Hello World Collection

The Hello World Collection "Hello World" is the first program one usually writes when learning a new programming language. Having first been mentioned in Brian Kernighan's tutorial to the B programming language, it became widely known through Kernighan & Ritchie's 1978 book that introduced "The C Programming Language", where it read like this:

LLVM - ,

. LLVM 2000 - Vikram Adve .

LLVM - Wikipedia

The core of LLVM is the intermediate representation (IR), a low-level programming language similar to assembly. IR is a strongly typed reduced instruction set computing (RISC) instruction set which abstracts away details of the target.

LLVM Language Reference Manual LLVM 8 documentation

Introduction The LLVM code representation is designed to be used in three different forms: as an in-memory compiler IR, as an on-disk bitcode representation (suitable for fast loading by a Just-In-Time compiler), and as a human-readable assembly language representation.
